COLLECTION OF PERSONAL DATA

In accordance with the provisions of law n° 78-17 of 6 January 1978, as amended, relating to computers, files and freedoms, the user is informed that the Publisher is collecting and processing personal data when the user is connected to the Site.

The data collected is primarily used to make the Platform available and optimise and secure it so as to provide users with the best possible service. The Publisher may collect additional data to allow the proper execution of commercial contracts concluded with the user through the Platform.

The user is informed that they have the right to access, query, modify and delete information concerning them. This right can be exercised at any time with the Publisher either directly on the Site or by post addressed to 73 Route du Puits, 47200 MARCELLUS, France or by email to infos@francismiqueltonnellerie.com

The information collected may be shared with third parties residing in the European Union in the following circumstances:

- When the user posts, in a comment area, information accessible to the public;
- When the user expressly consents;
- When required by law or to co-operate in a judicial investigation at the express request of a public authority;
- For the performance of commercial services for which a third party's cooperation is required, particularly if the Publisher chooses to subcontract some of its services through Third Party Services.

When certain information is mandatory to access specific features of the Site, the Editor will indicate this mandatory character when entering the data.

The personal data collected will only be kept for the time necessary to allow the proper use of the Site, prevent fraud and abuse, and meet the Publisher's legal and regulatory obligations concerning the management of the Site.

RESPECT FOR INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

All brands, photographs, texts, comments, illustrations, images, animated or not, video sequences, sounds, as well as all computer applications that could be used to make the Site work and, more generally, all the elements reproduced or used on the Site are protected by the laws in force in respect of intellectual property.

They are the full and entire property of the Publisher or its partners unless otherwise specified. Any reproduction, representation, use or adaptation, in any form whatsoever, of all or part of these elements, including computer applications, is strictly prohibited without the Publisher's prior written consent. The fact that the Publisher does not initiate proceedings upon becoming aware of these unauthorised uses does not constitute acceptance of said uses and waiver of prosecution.

Only use for private use within a family circle is authorised, and any other use constitutes infringement and/or infringement of neighbouring rights sanctioned by the Intellectual Property Code.

The resumption of all or part of this content requires the prior authorisation of the Publisher or the holder of the rights to this content.

HYPertext LINKS

The Site may contain hypertext links giving access to other websites edited and managed by third parties and not by the Publisher. The Publisher cannot be held responsible directly or indirectly in the event that said third-party sites do not comply with legal provisions.

The creation of hypertext links to the Site can only be done with the prior written authorisation of the Publisher.
